the dialectics of the religious and the secular studies on the future of religion contains the work of fifteen international scholars who have wrestled with the question of the relevancy meaning and future of religion within the context of the increasing antagonisms between the religious and secular realms of modern civil society and its globalization through their chosen topics in analyzing these issues in the 20th and 21st centuries each author also indicates the possibility of mitigating if not preventing the continuation of this antagonism by historically moving toward a more reconciled and humane future global society contributors are branko ančić aleksandra baranova roland t boer francis brassard dustin byrd donald devon iii neven duvnjak jan w r fennema denis r janz dinka marinović jerolimov gottfried küenzlen mislav kukoč michael r ott rudolf j siebert and ivica sokol in this wide ranging study rosalind selby explores the hermeneutical implications of a barthian epistemology in which givenness of knowledge talk of god and scripture and the church is paramount from this she seeks to develop a hermeneutics of service that challenges both liberal and fundamentalist approaches to theological language and biblical interpretation selby tackles the issues of knowledge and especially knowledge of god the language used to communicate that knowledge and that language as scriptural textuality barth wrote of the comical doctrine that the true exegete has no presuppositions in fact he said no one reads the bible directly we all read it through spectacles in the train of his insight selby examines the role of community as a prerequisite for knowledge and truth claims before examining the different ways that various communities interpret scripture focusing on st mark s gospel the presuppositions of the different starting places are revealed and the appropriateness of various methodologies discussed the quest for the historical jesus and its struggles to handle the resurrection are used as a test case to show the impact of different hermeneutical strategies the insights in this thought provoking study have implications for issues as wide ranging as the genre gospel the authority of scripture the church as a reading community the plurality of interpretations and the possibility of controlling them the relationship between general and special theological hermeneutics as well as epistemological foundationalism and its alternatives religion plays a central role in a variety of social movements including many that are not explicitly faith based this book provides the first systematic analysis of the ways religion contributes to diverse movements for social change it draws on a variety of case studies from the us and globally to build an argument about religion s distinctive capacity to provide logistical support to inspire and legitimize activist practices to connect different spatial scales and to link big ideas to everyday experiences the book s analysis rests on three foundational arguments first and most fundamentally it is impossible to understand movements for social change without analyzing the multiple ways that religion shapes their ideas communities and practices second religion is always in mutually transformative interaction with social and political forces and can never be entirely separated from them in social movements and in the public sphere more generally people interpret politics with values and concepts drawn from religion and understand their activism as spiritually meaningful this challenges the assumption that religion is a largely a private matter third scholars must treat religion as a relatively independent variable which actively shapes social processes just as it is shaped by them we cannot make sense of religion s role in social movements without acknowledging that religious institutions and traditions have to some extent a life of their own available for the first time in one volume a classic commentary on the gospels in the spirit of liberation theology for many years the peasants in solentiname a remote archipelago in lake nicaragua gathered each sunday to reflect on the gospel reading from recordings of their dialogue this extraordinary document was composed first published in the 1970s in four volumes it was immediately acclaimed as a classic expression of liberation theology a radical reading of the good news of jesus from the perspective of the poor and oppressed it was also banned by the somoza dictatorship forty years later now available in one volume the gospel in solentiname retains its freshness and power though times may have changed the message of jesus as heard by these peasants continues to challenge the rulers of our age and to inspire the poor with the hope of a different world
